

Thank you, Lord, for all that you have created.

The opportunities . . . for life,

Your vision . . . that we cannot meet but yet you forgive us and keep forgiving us when we get 'it' wrong and cause hurt to any of your Creation.

You gave us the freedom to choose . . . be with each of us, Lord, and enable us to, perhaps, take the risk of doing something new.

It is Lord, as you know full well, my own personal aim, shall we say, to enable others to be more at ease with themselves.

I pray now, here, that I may continue to do this.

- In turn, drawing more opportunities and a 'flowing down' of blessings upon all who know me.

I pray for new creation, arising from our taking new risks at the opportunities flowing to each of us.

Amen
